January Meeting Recaps

The first meeting on the month started off with 17 for dinner — there was a lot of conversation and food! The meeting signed in 43 folks — pretty good for the dead of winter in Central Florida! The club benefit cried auction was cried by A. Stephen Patrick and ably handled by Team David and supporting staff. The auction of 40 lots added $568.50 to our treasury. Thank you to everyone who dug into their closets to pull out great material for sale.

The second meeting started off with 12 for dinner. The crowd of 53 signed in for the meeting made for a nice crowd in the Ballroom. The Annual meeting of the membership of the CFSC was held per the By-Laws. Jim Cooney won the pop quiz question with the answer of “Grok” — $10 door prize is his. The informative session by Randy Shoemaker on expertizing enlightened the membership. The silent auction sold 26 lots for $396.25.

Dinner Plans

Come join the group for dinner at Viet Garden at 5:00pm before each meeting. Located on the NW corner of Shine Ave & 50 at 1237 E. January One Day Show Report

The show was held on a rather chilly day, somewhat typical for a normal(ish) winter day in Central Florida. Seven dealers setup booths and a record setting crowd of 106 came through the show in the five hours of operation. The previous record was 105. See you folks on Saturday April 6th — same place, same time!

Local History Event of Interest

This year's Pine Castle Days will feature A History Tent focusing on Orange County History and Pioneer Families. Those interested in local history will enjoy presentations from 10-3 on Saturday & Sunday February 23 & 24 at Cypress Grove Park on Holden Avenue. Our own Steve Patrick will be one of the presenters. His triple great grandfather Wright Patrick was the first postmaster of the Jernigan settlement.

President's Message by Francis Ferguson The Collective

I spent a very pleasant three days at the recent Sarasota National Stamp Show. It was a pure pleasure to be NOT in charge of running things. My collector driven nature came out as I hunted down a couple of nice pieces that fit well within my collections. With the help of another club member — I was able to obtain another cover from Ona that made me smile. I even was able to find a couple of Prexy “wandering heads”, along with a nice selection of Transport covers. Purchases were for the most part small but meaningful.

The thought ran through my brain that I was no more than a small fish in a much larger ocean of philatelic activities.....and I am fine with that! There were all kinds of things going on at the show, of course — buying and selling — but the major realization was one of the exchange of information. Many times during the three days, while either attending a meeting or being on the bourse floor — I witnessed the process of education happening. Sometimes it was subtle, and other times it was much more direct and intense.

We as collectors are part of a much wider world of philatelic activity. The “collective” we belong to, includes all of humanity — with no qualifications. We share in common two things — the pursuit of small pieces of paper and the need to learn. One simply can't be a stamp collector and not directly or indirectly absorb knowledge. The need/desire to be a collector also enriches our lives and makes us better educated humans.

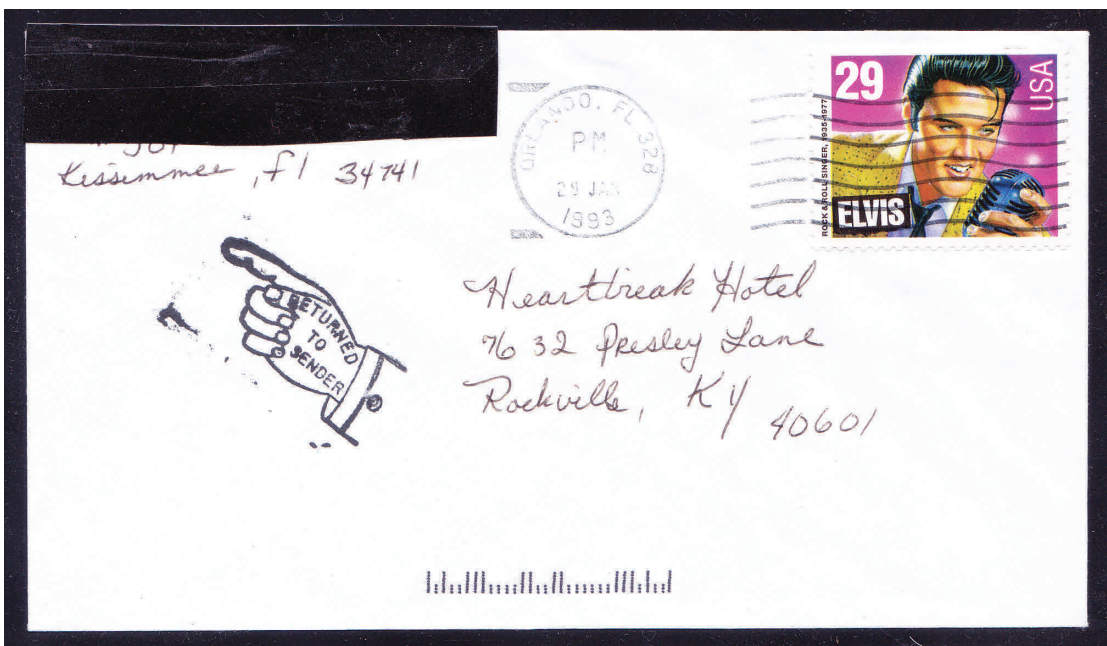

While expounding on your philatelic holdings at a gathering of non-collectors will more than likely be awkward — if you take the ancillary information that you know and use it to buttress the conversation, you are a winner. I admit to being an introvert by nature. My preference is to be a wall-flower. Thankfully, my base of knowledge that has been fortified by being a collector does help to make me more comfortable in social situations where discussions are being held.

So — how do you feel about being a collector? Does being part of a “Collective” help you in any way?

Remember according to the Borg; resistance is futile.

Serendipity — XLVII by Phil Fettig

Most dealers have experienced the unfortunate task of having an excited collector walk up with a sheet (or sheets) of Scott 2721 which they viewed as the way to pay off the children's college bills. What, you don't recognize 2721? Think Elvis Presley! While it was an extremely popular stamp in 1993, that did not make it valuable — in fact just the opposite! With a quantity issued of 518 MILLION stamps, a rare item it would never be! Now, as to the cover — it is not valuable either, however it sure is interesting. The address is mostly fake. There was a Rockville, KY back in the 1800s near the West Virginia line. The zip code does exist in Frankfort, KY, up near the Indiana line. Back in the “Golden Era” of cover collecting (1920s — 1930s) a favorite pastime was to send covers all over the world with a bad address. The sole purpose was to get the item returned with interesting postmarks or hand stamps. This cover certainly works for the Elvis fan!
